

DIVINE MERCY CONFERENCE 2011

DR. ANTHONY L. LILLES

We are pleased to have with us again Dr. Anthony Lilles, Professor of Spiritual Theology at St. John Vianney seminary in Denver, who will continue his series on the Divine Mercy devotion. Dr. Lilles inspired us last year with his keen insight into the life and spirituality of St. Faustina and the significance of Divine Mercy for the modern world. Dr. Lilles visited Poland recently and will share his experience in the homeland of St. Faustina and Blessed Pope John Paul II. He will discuss the apostolic letters of John Paul II and the practical applications we can introduce in our daily lives. Come, be renewed and refreshed. The invitation and witness of Divine Mercy is as fresh and compelling as ever.

ANNIE KARTO

Annie Karto will have stories to share on her recent trip to Africa. Her angelic singing will once again grace our stage. Annie says that spreading the message of Divine Mercy has been the focus of her ministry for the past twenty years. As Mary asked St. Faustina to prepare the world for His Second Coming, this invitation extends to each of us. The message of Divine Mercy is more relevant and timely than ever in these difficult times we are living in. Annie will sing and speak to these topics and reach our hearts.

JD MAHER

Fox 40 TV Staff Meteorologist, JD Maher, returns as our Master of Ceremonies. J. D. will masterfully guide us through our day of Divine Mercy. Other invited guests include Bishop Jamie Soto, Frs. Jaramie Leatherby, Avram Brown and Sylvester Kwiatkowski.
